EDUCATORS RISING

A Division of PDK
INTERNATIONAL

The National Education Association (NEA) and Phi Delta Kappa International (PDK) announce our intention to explore a membership option between PDK's Educators Rising Collegiate program and NEA's Aspiring Educators program. With the many decisions college students make, the process of deciding where to find resources and how to connect with professional peers can be simplified. A potential joint membership would allow college students exploring careers in education access to a greater depth of resources, professional supports, and content offered by both NEA and PDK.

Both NEA and PDK are committed to supporting future educators and actively engaging in efforts to build a diverse pipeline of teachers joining the profession. We look forward to working with our university partners and chapters to provide quality supports and content to our next generation of educators.

If you have any questions, don't hesitate to contact me or my team at info@educatorsrising.org.
